STORY

Fitria Nahdi was 50 years old in 2004 when she first started Nahdi Jewelry. Her passion for beautiful jewelry inspired her first collection of raw pearls and semi-precious stone necklaces. Since then she has been exploring Indonesia's rich tradition of finely crafted jewelry, through her designs she hopes to preserve some of these cultural treasures and techniques in today's modern era. Like the beautiful jewelry found throughout Asia, Europe and African, Indonesian jewelry tells a story of tradition and its ancient culture. Fitria's collection of water buffalo horn jewelry is from Central Java, Nusa Tenggara Timur and the surrounding area. Working in horn which is a natural material has very little impact on the environment.

The economic state of Nusa Tenggara Timur is very unstable, working with their artisans helps to give them an opportunity to work. Fitria still enjoys stringing and beading her necklaces and earring jewelry by herself. Our company's goal is to help reduce local unemployment and to preserve Indonesian traditional jewelry. Nahdi Jewelry has received several awards for "Best Designer and is a "Best Seller" throughout Indonesia.
